Moving Time.

The man who has never moved has missed half of his life—the worse half. It is a trite saying that three moves are worse than a fire, but to-day some men will have moved three times three and still they are not unhappy. There are several thoughts that suggest themselves in relation to moving from one neighborhood to another: Old friends are left behind and new associations formed. The family settles in a new place. The first cry of agony that goes up is from the "hopeful," who rushes in on the first evening meal (taken on a carpeted dining room with a balcony nose or a black eye, muttering between his sobs "that the boy next door slapped him."This vexation wears off finally and pride is satisfied the next day when the new neighbor calls and wants to know if you will allow "your" boy to continue stealing eggs out of the hen roost and soaping the mouth of the hydrant. By these means you will soon get acquainted with your new neighbors; but if it wasn't for your children you would never know whether Jones next to you kept laying hens or crowing roosters. The small boy is an invention of peculiar usefulness in moving times, and his utility should not be overlooked. He should always be kept on tap, and if you haven't one of your own, hire a bright lad for a week—you may not want him so long if he is very industrious.The first night in strange quarters is one of woe—worse than death. Everything is in a chaotic state and a stove pipe.
The man who has adjusted a stove pipe knows that there are other pleasures in this world that are more fruitful of genuine meritment, but the savage satisfaction one has in swearing at an obstinate joint is not to be treated lightly. Then again a slat in the bed is missing "Jumpy" or "Bob" has used it for a see-saw. A long hunt and skinned shins—go to bed with a considerable amount of bad humor and evil thoughts.The worst has not come, however. The re-habilitation is a feature of moving that claims a passing notice. Your wife wants a certain picture in a certain place on the wall and you, obstinate man that you are, declare that it shall be replaced another nook. You squabble, the dinner is neglected because the stove has not been put in its place, the house is cheerless and you make it more so by your crossness; your son comes in crying with the story that the big boy next door has hit him in the eye, and frantic with worry you rush down street and leave your wife and servants to unravel the mystery. At night you return and find things in a tolerably comfortable shape.This is moving, or, as some people have it, flitting. A man who has never moved never wants to.

A New and Exciting Sport.

The world demands novelty in its diversions. So we had the rather tame walking match, and now the roller rink. But there are minds which are not entertained by the pastimes of the multitude. They require the stimulant of recurring novelty and sustained excitement.The latest thing in this line is English, and of course it will be popular with those Americans who pine and whither far from the fogs of London. A Philadelphia detective pounced on a young man in Reading, Pennsylvania, and said he wanted him. The young man was confronted by his real pursuer, who greeted him with:
"You young dog, you've given me a good chase, but I've run you down at last."They laughed, shook hands, told their story and went away. The pursuer and pursued live in Liverpool. One of them, the elder, is an ex-Dublin detective. The young man declared that he hadn't a very high opinion of detectives in general, and of the ex-detective, put upon his metal, said he could catch the smartest criminal on earth. A heavy bet was made, so goes the story, the young man took ten days start, and the chase began. Coming to this country the fugitive went from city to city, under a varied assortment of names. American detectives were employed to hunt him down, and then the master of the chase got the brush.This sport is infinitely more exciting than playing chess with real men and women. It is a very great improvement on "hare and hounds," for it opens to the players all the romance and excitement of a tour around the world, with the possibility that the huntsmen are going in the wrong direction or may even go to sleep with their prey under the bed. A feature of the game to commend it to people of high degree is that folks of slender physique can't pay it.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

The walls of several of the British warships are made of paper.
The Burnham Salt railway paid a dividend of 4 percent on their investments last year.Some statistical genius has figured out that 7,000,000 sermons are annually preached to Americans.Norwalk, Conn., boasts a baby boy, 13 months old, Samuel Reynolds Tompkins by name, that weighs 85 pounds.It is proposed to establish Union stock yards at El Paso to accommodate the live stock trade between Mexico and the United States.The British Government during the past nineteen years has spent $147,575,220 on war ships, yet is now deploring the lack of an efficient naval armament.A Florida specialist has shipped two tons of wood, representing 105 Florida trees to the State University of Iowa.
Several years ago he sent a set of about 175 specimens to the Agricultural College of Iowa. A set is being made to be sent to Philadelphia.A new process of drawing and engraving has been devised by which people or scenes can be photographed of an afternoon, and the electrotype cut gotten ready for printing in the newspaper of the following morning. The cost is also less than the old method.The export of slaves from the Mozambique coast from 1807 to 1819 were 2,104, 000, and from 1819 to 1847, 2,758,000 souls.
In the palm days of the foreign slave trade the bishop of the diocese, seated on a marble throne, banded and blessed the gangs of slaves as they passed, attacked to the shore for embarkation.The average strength of the French forces in Tonquin during the first six months was 7,600, and out of that number 375 died; 82 of wounds received while fighting, 77 of typhoid fever, 73 of intermittent fever, 60 of dysentery, 45 of sunstroke, 17 from accidents, 15 of organic complaints and 8 of suicide.An English railway employee wishing to leave the company's service must give notice, but he can be discharged without warning; in France an employee can quit when he likes, but if he is dismissed he is entitled to fifteen days' wages. In the United States no notice or pay is required or granted on either side.English authorities are discussing the plan of having all executions of criminals take place in Newgate, the great London prison, instead of the provincial shire town in which the crime was committed, where, it is claimed, scenes like that attending the attempted hanging of the Babycorn murder too often occur.In an island of Goa, near Bombay, there is a singular vegetable called "the sorrowful tree," because it only flourishes in the night. At sunset no flowers are to be seen, and yet after half an hour it is full of them. They yield a most fragrant oil, but the sun no sooner begins to shine upon them than some of them fall off, and others close up; and thus it continues flowering in the night during the whole year.

FARM FACTS.

Get rid of every fattening cattle beast before it is 3 years old.It takes three days of good food to make up for one of bad food.About 100 pounds of bone-dust and 200 pounds of kail will be found a cheap and excellent application for the strawberry beds.In order to secure a good profit, no store cattle of the right class and well done can be sold at less than 45 cents per pound, live weight.Salt for stock is especially serviceable at this season, owing to the change from green to dry food. Charcoal should also occasionally be provided.M. Dittmar, a Swede, has perfected a process for converting kerosene oil into an incombustible resembling tallow in appearance. It can be made into candles.Always set out a row of evergreens, as well as shade trees, along the front of the farm house, as they add largely to the value of the farm by rendering it more attractive.If American sheep breeders had sooner turned their attention to mutton in preference to wool the sheep interests would now be in a more prosperous condition—Sheep-Breeder.Let the roller be used over the wheat field now, in order to smooth the surface while the plants are only just grown in position, but makes the land more easily worked over when the crop is to be cut.The period of gestation in cows is 285 days, but varies somewhat. Feed very little grain of any kind for two or three weeks before calving. Hay, potatoes and roots are the best. Keep blood cool and system relaxed.It has been ascertained by carefully repeated experiments that the first drawn milk contains five, the second eight and the fifth seventeen per cent. of cream.
Thus a cow three-quarters milked is not half-milked, if butted in the object.

the fifth seventeen per cent. of cream.
half-milked, if butted in the object.
